Prevention and Cure.

The Greek professor Paresi has found in the milk and pulp of the coconut a specific for tapeworm.

Trent tried on a maned eyes with a bath of warm water five parts with hazel one part three times a day.

Oliver oil saturated with camphor makes an excellent application for inflammation swellings, also for rubbing rheumatic joints.

A strip of flannel or a napkin wrung out of hot water and applied around the neck of a child that has croup will usually bring relief in ten minutes.

For excessive perspiration of the feet one part of alum with two parts of glycerine should be rubbed on the feet at night and a light, open sock worn. In the morning the feet should be washed with tepid water.

A simple remedy for foot sprains is to slide the fingers under the foot, and having previously greased both thumbs press them successively with strong force over the painful parts for about a quarter of an hour. This process should be repeated several times until the patient is able to walk.

Nervousness from exhaustion is often treated successfully by a diet consisting largely of milk and eggs. Two quarts of milk and several fresh raw eggs daily have been consumed. There is to be no cooking either. Plenty of driving in the open air, if warm, walks in the woods and gentle exercises are to be employed. Also, berries, wines, iron and phosphorus are not needed. The amount of protoplasm or living matter in a fresh uncooked egg is great—cooking kills it and it has to be made alive again by the processes of digestion.

Wherever gas from sewers or the emanations from a leaking drain, a cesspool or a fouled well, make their way into a house the inmates are in imminent danger of an outbreak of typhoid fever, diphtheria, or other febrile or violent disease. Under the term of "zymotic," not to speak of minor illness and depressed vitality, the connection of which with sewer gas is now fully established. Sewer gas enters a house most rapidly at night, when outdoor doors and windows are shut, and is then more potent in contaminating meat, the milk, and the drinking water, and in poisoning the inmates.

A well-known dentist once said: "If the first teeth are taken care of they will last usually until the child has gained strength and material for a well-developed second set with the enamel perfect. Then we would hear less about bad teeth and toothache. If the enamel of teeth is imperfect the bone is exposed, and very soon decays. A child's teeth should be brushed regularly from the time he is twenty months old. This is none too young, and the second set will be all the stronger. Even a very small child will enjoy brushing his own teeth if given a brush, and if the habit is enjoined on him early he will clean his tiny teeth as regularly as you do your own."

No house should be without its bottle of arnica. It is indispensable in cases of cuts, burns and bruises and in earache. It is a sovereign cure. As soon as any soreness is felt in the ear, which feeling almost always precedes the regular "ache"—let four or five drops of tincture of arnica be poured in, and then the orifice filled with a little cotton wool. The air, in a short time, the uneasiness is felt, and if the arnica is not resorted to until there is actual pain the cure may not be so speedy, but it is just as certain. If one application does not effect a cure it will be necessary to repeat it, it may be several times. It is a safe, pleasant, and reliable remedy, and which is the usual cause of earache.

CLUBBED HIS SWEETHEART TO DEATH.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., June 25.—A Union special gives an account of a murder which took place near Oak Orchard, a small village seven miles north of Medina, last evening. Eugene Emery, a farm hand, aged about forty, had been paying considerable attention to Cora, the thirteen-year-old daughter of John Grimes, a farmer of that place. The girl's parents forbade Emery from seeing her, and last evening when her father and mother were away, Emery entered the house and clubbed Cora to death. The murderer escaped and was not arrested until this morning. Great excitement prevails.

STARTLING EVIDENCE.

Of the Cure of Skin Disease when all other Methods Fail.

Psoriasis 5 years, covering face, head and entire body with white scales. Skin red, itchy and bleeding. Hair all gone. Spent hundreds of dollars. Pronounced incurable. Cured by CUTICURA.

My disease (psoriasis) first broke out on my left cheek, spreading across my nose, and almost covering my face. It ran into my eyes, and the physician said I would lose my eyesight altogether. It spread all over my head, and my hair all fell out, until I was entirely bald. It then ran down my arms and shoulders, until my arms were just one sore. It covered my entire body, my face, head and shoulders being the worst. The white scales fell constantly from my head, shoulders and arms, the skin would thicken and be red and very itchy, and would crack and bleed and scratch. After spending many hundreds of dollars, I was pronounced incurable. I heard of the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and after using two bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVER, I could see a change, and after I had taken four bottles, I was almost cured; and when I had used six bottles of CUTICURA RESOLVER and one box of CUTICURA, and one cake of CUTICURA SOAP, I was cured of the dreadful disease from which I had suffered five years. I thought the disease would leave a permanent scar. CUTICURA REMEDIES cured it without any scars. I cannot express with a pen how I suffered before using the CUTICURA REMEDIES. They saved my life, and I feel it my duty to recommend them to all who have the disease. I know of a number of different persons who have used the CUTICURA REMEDIES, and all have received great benefit from their use.
